Notes: Utah Code § 63G-2-203(1)(2)(3) provides guidance on appropriate fees. Governmental entities may charge a reasonable fee to cover the actual cost of providing records. When a governmental entity compiles a record in a form other than that normally maintained, the actual cost includes staff time for compiling, packaging or summarizing information to meet the person's request. Government may also charge for staff time spent on search and retrieval and other direct administrative costs. The hourly charge cannot exceed the salary of the lowest paid employee with the necessary skill and training to perform the work. The first 15 minutes must be provided at no cost. Additional fees are established by a local ordinance or policy, or in the case of state government, approved by the Utah Legislature. Government may not charge for reviewing a record to make a classification decision.
